HEATHER M. FOSSITY

503.276.2151 | hfossity@barran.com | www.barran.com

Heather Fossity defends employers and management in a variety of employment matters, while serving as proactive counsel to guide her clients through important management decisions aimed to address legal concerns before they arise. With experience from government and in-house perspectives, she has a comprehensive understanding of the unique processes involved in employment law from both a federal and local standpoint.

Heather graduated with her B.A. in Social and Cultural Analysis from New York University, and received her J.D., cum laude, from Lewis & Clark Law School. Throughout her legal education and even prior to law school, Heather diversified her experience, working with the federal government, in private practice, and with in-house counsel at a professional services firm. While attending law school, she also served as a Faculty Research Assistant to Professor Amy Bushaw, as an Intern and Student Director with the Small Business Legal Clinic, and as a member of the Lewis & Clark Law School’s Moot Court Mock Trial team. Heather has a strong background in representing Oregon employers and effectively resolving disputes for a diverse group of clients across various industries.
