503.276.2109 | nelgin@barran.com | www.barran.com

Nicole Elgin is a partner at Barran Liebman LLP, where she represents employers in labor and employment law matters, from proactive advice and training to strategic litigation. Her labor practice ranges from negotiating collective bargaining agreements to strategizing employer campaigns during union elections. She also defends employers in arbitrations and investigations by the National Labor Relations Board. Nicole represents unionized employers across a variety of industries and sectors, from wood products to community nonprofits.

Nicole’s employment law practice involves helping employers adapt their policies to legislative and regulatory changes at the local, state, and national levels. She defends employers investigated by administrative agencies, including Oregon’s Bureau of Labor and Industries (BOLI), Washington’s Labor & Industries (L&I), and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), to name a few. She was also a member of the Rulemaking Advisory Committee for Oregon’s Equal Pay Act and has helped numerous employers perform equal pay analyses.

Prior to joining Barran Liebman LLP, Nicole was a judicial extern for the Honorable Michael H. Simon at the United States District Court for the District of Oregon. She serves on the Multnomah Bar Association YLS Board of Directors and routinely teaches classes to those studying for the SHRM certification exam.
